Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Peachtree City, Georgia, presents a very special concert of praise on Saturday evening, September 9, at 7:00 pm. The one-hour program under the title of "VOICES" reflects the many voices of music we lift in prayer and praise. This concert, which is an outgrowth of Holy Trinity summer choirs, combines adult and youth voices, guest soloists and instruments to present favorites both contemporary and classical. Included in the program are Hosanna and Pie Jesu by Andrew Lloyd Webber, Selah's versions of Oh, Draw Me Lord and You Raise Me Up, Patrick Doyle's Non Nobis Domine, Regina Coeli from Mascagni's opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" and much more. Of special note is that the program will be premiering "Lullaby for Peace" by Bob Smith. The concept – envisioned by cantor Maria Pia Ugarte – found response in the diligent members of Holy Trinity's Music Ministry. Rehearsals were added in a joint effort to serve with a voice of praise. The concert "VOICES" formalized and is under the direction of Claire Stroud, Music Director. This event is free and open to the public.
